

Help You

Why do you put your trust in such shallow things?
You're told that they will bring you love.
You should know better
There is more than this

You may once have known Me
Or maybe not
But I have known you since before your time began
Meet the creator of man

*I can't help you
If you look at yourself
I can't heal you
If your minds somewhere else
Let me love you
Fix your eyes on me and I'll be your strength*

You talk about a strength that comes from within
But there's no energy that does not come from Me
Won't you look at Me
